Learn as if you were to live forever; live as if you would die tomorrow.

Dan Becotte

In the beginning I gained my sight to see the beauty of this world. And then my hearing to listen to the music, and promptly my touch to caress the earth. Wisdom came to me alas, and yet I still learn. Safety comes unto me, but yet still I am injured but with my rebellion will I forever be exempt and being set here on earth, I have experienced life, courage and hope, love and pain, misfortune and truth, torture and faith with all of it I will suffer yet succeed and with my senses I will pass over the universe, with my strength I will endure, and with my vision I will see the rise and fall of this world the rebirth of life and its disciples. To all those who have entered my world thank you I love you. To all those who haven't you are welcome. I stand high on this mountain and I can see everything forever eternal.

There's no success like failure and failure's no success at all.

Mami and Papi had 2 sons: K-man and J-boy. In between bird and healing were born. After a few Jungle-gym affairs, romps thru the sewer, songs on the back deck and movie theaters healing was whisked off to C.C. This is where the great prophet became so groovy funkilicious. Although able to transcend time & space she has seen neither Kei nor Guy naked, but, she's kept her trombone from going up her nose. able to leap to the top of Mt Lafayette in a single bound, she likes girls . . . and guys . . . so TR let's take these wet clothes off & go out for Pizza. Siempre re cuerda mi putita, lava tu ropa con Lavensan! Influenced greatly by people who perhaps don't realize it but should, Dada, KG, AM, TR, BC, SP, JL, BG, and brutha K. she tries to do good and fight evil. To all my brothers and sisters, I wish us well in our future.

"I have just put another stick into my stove . . . I suppose I have burned up a pretty good sized tree tonight — and for what? I settled with Juan for it the other day; but that wasn't the final settlement. I got off cheaply from him. At last, one will say let me see, how much wood did you burn, sir? And I shall shudder to think that the next question will be, What did you do while you were warm?" . . . Henry David Thoreau. A wanting wizard walking the beaten path went up a bank. Upon arriving at da cap: he saw a chorus of friends surrounded him singing mup tenev, and steered him onto the road less traveled. "If I am not I, who will be?" . . . H.D.T. Thank you, I love you all dearly.

It is good to collect things but it is better to go on walks.

Love and thanks to all the friends I've made over this short period of time called years. I love you all more than words can express. You will never be forgotten! To my dear brother and friend chris — thanks for listening to me and helping me out. What a wonderful childhood we led. We soaked in the sun's warmth and beauty The trees held out their arms for us to climb upon and then we continued to climb till we reached the highest branch — and we looked down and saw that everything was good. That goodness has continued and grown. New friends have come upon me and brought me greater joy. Tim, together hand in hand. We will marvel at the world Every action will count, we will love everything and each other. When the world ends, they will still find us walking hand in hand.

Tis here that it all begins. Hate to quote Dickens, but they were the best of times, they were the worst of times. Where did all the good times go? Rob, how's the water? Never underestimate the power of the Budha KURT does your father have Flashbacks? OUCH! The Squirrel will never die, kinda like it's in a coma, four years of life in a book, Welcome to Hell to hell, hell, But the war goes on. Aaron, not this week. Jesse tk care. It's all fun and games till someone gets a boner. PFiac it came to me in a gust of wind, a breath of air. Twisted leaves float from the hollow trees in the colors of a lost and forgotten rainbow and then my heart was touched, a gust of wind and a breath of air.

Who wouldn't do something crazy to make a dream come true

Todd Seaman

behold;the myth is gone.
there is no magic left in
this land;
the colors faded from the skies
somehow the waves don't crash anymore
they lurch to shore and are gone.
they have all moved away
and lifeless,this desolite land rots.
it was destoned,they chanted.
as always,it was gods intent.
but i sit here aloneand
i fear my god has no intentions for me.
alas, our god is dead.
i have nowhere to go.
i shall sit and wait.

i try to remember the days of light.
it becomes incresingly hard.
but it matters no more.
light always leads to darkness,
and darkness to light.
i realize that i am on
the site of future bliss.
the land does not change,
i fear, the people do.
rock is solid.
crouds are easily desposed of.

i remain the same.

i am engulfed in darkness.
the sun has set.
i do not expect the moon to rise.
the ending is repulsively like
the begining.
because,of course, they are the same.
the rock below me becomes cold,
as does the sky.

i sit and watch the empty heavens.

and what of me?
i, the last of a dead planet.
i, who was faithful.
i, who was never discovered.
i,who lived as a legend,
sometimes.
i, who loved.
would i be remembered?
should my life be for nothing?
as i rot in my tomb,
will anyone care of my life,
my accomplishments,anything?
no.

so be it.
the darkness becomes thicker.
infinity comes closer.
as the sky stops,so does the sea.
and then, slowly, they start again.
beginnings and endings swirled
into an infinint intanglement,
the lifeless body fell to the earth.
and after it,the rain of a new world.

Oh! Thus be it ever when Freemen shall stand between their loved home and the wars' desolation.
Blest with victr'y and Peace,
may the Heav'n — rescued land

Praise the Pow'r that hath made and preserved us a nation Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
and this be our motto, 'In God Is Our Trust'.
And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave

CLASS HISTORY '93

In June of 1989, we set the trend for an 8th grade class trip to New York City, which all succeeding classes have followed. We became closer as a class, which helped us deal with the blow of being knocked from our position of seniority in the Middle School to the lowly rank of Freshmen. In September we timidly entered High School, thankful that the upperclassmen wouldn't be on campus until the following day. However, the new privileges and freedoms we were met with helped us to become quickly acclimated to our new, very different surroundings. In October we experienced our first of four exciting Homecoming weekends, including the games, parades, parties, and semi-formal dance. Several other dances, along with plays and sporting events, made the year fly by, and soon there was a fresh bunch of newcomers.

Sophomore year we had our last Homecoming parade due to either inadequate cleanup, or the ever present risk of falling off of the floats, depending on whose story you believe. We participated (or at least we were supposed to) in the Magazine Drive, and had record breaking sales! (Well maybe the lowest ever . . .) Spring brought us the first annual Talent Show, which was appropriately filled with talent. Summer was quickly upon us, along with the anticipation of being upperclassmen.

We had an extremely successful car wash Junior year, which helped make up for the lack of funds brought in by our 10th grade fund raisers. The PSAT's in the fall and the SAT's in the spring made the seemingly distant prospect of college more of a reality. Driving around with licenses in hand and high hopes of finding some excitement, we'd usually all end up at Mobil, only to be dispersed by cops. The close of our Junior year brought with it the realization that we would be Seniors in the fall and along with it, the anticipation and apprehension about leaving home.

We were finally The Seniors in the fall of 1992. The time had passed as quickly as Mr. Ballerino had promised us it would three years earlier. Our time was filled with visiting colleges, filling out applications, and nervously awaiting their replies. Of course, we still had time for parties, dances, other social events, and some school work. March did "come in like a lion" with the Senior Banquet held at the Captain Linnel House, which was followed in May by the incomparable Senior Prom, which took place at The Tara Hyannis. Finally, on June 13th of 1993, we reached the pinnacle we'd been working towards for four years, our final event as a class — our graduation.

Although the class of 1993 will soon be dispersed around the globe, we will always be bound together by the memories we share. Good luck everyone, see you all in 2003!
